I have great pleasure in welcoming you to the 7th WIEF in Astana, the beautiful capital city of the Republic of Kazakhstan. This is the first time that this Forum is being held in the Central Asian region, after our hugely successful Forums in South East Asia, South Asia and the Middle East.

As Chairman of the WIEF Foundation, I wish to convey my sincere thanks and gratitude to HE President Nursultan Nazarbayev, the Government and people of the Republic of Kazakhstan for hosting the 7th WIEF and for the generous hospitality and warm reception accorded to the invited Heads of State/Government, Role Players and participants of the Forum.

The WIEF Foundation is particularly pleased to hold the 7th WIEF in Kazakhstan, the biggest economy in the Central Asian Region. Blessed with huge deposits of oil and extractive minerals, political stability, investment-friendly policies and sound human capital, the Republic offers tremendous potentials for trade, investment and economic collaboration. I hope that such potentials could be seized by all participants attending the Forum.

The theme chosen for the 7th WIEF is “Globalising Growth - Connect, Compete, Collaborate”. We hope that this is appropriate in mobilizing the initiatives, energy, vigor and efforts of all participants including Government and corporate leaders, academics, NGOs, the youth and business women to interact and collaborate, where possible, with the common aim of exchanging ideas to engage in business. Connectivity between peoples and nations is indeed crucial to assure success. In this regard I am confident that participants would find the platform provided by the Forum useful for such purpose.

This publication is a manifestation of the ideas set above and should hopefully serve as an important background reading for all participants. I wish to congratulate all those involved, especially the various contributors, in making this publication possible.

Finally, may I wish you all the best for the 7th WIEF in Astana.

Tun Musa Hitam
Chairman
WIEF Foundation
As Patron of the World Islamic Economic Forum (WIEF) Foundation, I would like to record my sincere thanks and gratitude to H.E. President Nursultan Nazarbayev, the Government and people of the Republic of Kazakhstan for hosting the 7th WIEF in this beautiful capital city of Astana.

I believe that it is most timely that the 7th WIEF is held in the Republic of Kazakhstan, a rapidly developing economy that is the pride and envy of many in the Central Asian Region. It is indeed a measure of the Republic’s economic progress and dynamism that foreign participants are attracted to attend the Forum with a view to seeking whatever business and economic opportunities that exist. This is, after all what this Forum is about and it is my sincere hope that concrete and tangible business deals be concluded through the connectivity and interactions provided by the Forum.

I am personally glad to be able to participate in the Forum which has proven over the years, since its inception, to be a useful platform for discussion and dialogue for all levels of participants representing more than just OIC member countries. I am also gratified to see the wide range of significant issues included in the Forum so as to meet not only the specific requirements of our host but also the wider interest of the participants attending the Forum.

I note with pleasure that the WIEF is now more than just a Forum, with various programmes and activities carried out by the Foundation, including those that represent the outcome of major recommendations made at our previous Forums. This is indeed an encouraging development as the Forum progressively moves towards becoming a matured platform for constructive dialogue and economic collaboration. I hope the practical dimension of the Forum would continue to be further enhanced for the benefit of all those associated with the WIEF and I look forward to receiving similar important recommendations as an outcome of this Forum.

Finally, let me take this opportunity to wish all participants the very best for a successful Forum.

Dato’ Sri Mohd Najib Tun Abdul Razak
Prime Minister of Malaysia
Patron of WIEF Foundation

Taxi
In Astana, please call 22 22 22 or 39 79 79 (please note that no English is spoken, so please ask for assistance from the hotel staff). You can also flag down gypsy taxis/private cars in the street starting from 300 tenge to take you anywhere in the city. However, caution must be exercised, especially at night, and delegates are requested not to get into a car with more than one person already in it. In Astana, taxis tend to be a bit more expensive, so be prepared to pay up to 500 tenge.

Public Transport
In Astana, the only form of public transport is the bus, which runs from 6am to 9pm. The fare is 40 tenge. The number and the main stops of the route are written on the side of the bus and announced by the instructor. In the absence of information about destinations at public transport stops, and because the information on public transport is in Cyrillic, it may be easier to take taxis in town.

Food
Based on nomadic roots, horse meat and mutton are the basis of a majority of Kazakh dishes. Dishes include shuzhuk (a type of sausage made from smoked horse meat) and kuyrdak.

Daily meals for Kazakhs are usually very hearty, they include bread and another starch such as noodles or potatoes and a meat dish. One common dish is pilaf, which is often associated with the Uzbeks. It is a rice dish usually made with carrots, mutton, and a lot of oil. Soups, including Russian borsch, also are very common. Soups in Kazakhstan can be made of almost anything. Borsch is usually red (beet-based) or brown (meat-based), with cabbage, beet, and sometimes potatoes, and usually a large dollop of sour cream. Pelimnin, a Russian dish that is made by filling small dough pockets with meat and onions, is very popular with all nationalities in Kazakhstan and is served quite often as a daily meal.
Let's come together as one for the benefit of all.
The theme of the WIEF Businesswomen Forum, "Women and Business: Endurance and Perseverance", augurs well in the current reality where women are becoming more influential in the business world. In order to thrive in the present challenging and dynamic business environment, women entrepreneurs need to build on their capabilities as well as inner determination to pursue success rigorously.

The WIEF Businesswomen Forum held in conjunction with the 7th WIEF will address issues of interest to women entrepreneurs. The five (5) Plenary Sessions in the Forum are as follows:

- CEO Exchange: Growing Women Leadership: Lead, Influence and Change
- The Social Entrepreneur: Revolutionizing Societal Change
- Marketing – An Essential of Business
- Financing Alternatives for Women Entrepreneurs: Is Venture Capital A Solution?
- Industries in Focus: Healthcare/Tourism/Education/Food

Apart from sharing invaluable knowledge and experience, the Speakers invited from various parts of the world would also infuse in their lively discourse, the importance of endurance and perseverance in helping women excel in business.

The WIEF Young Leaders Forum 2011, in conjunction with the 7th WIEF in Astana, Kazakhstan, bears the theme of “Leadership in Motion: Leveraging Skills and Talent” to reflect the growing number of young people taking up positions of influence and leadership in the Muslim World. Being a region with the highest percentage of young people and where leadership succession is one of the most critical issues of the day, the Muslim World is undergoing an important period of transition. By leveraging on successful individuals and best practices around the world, the Muslims, especially the younger generation can benefit from an infusion of ideas and an exchange of skills. Throughout the four plenary sessions, the 2011 Forum sheds light on the most important aspects of leadership, focusing on critical leadership areas as well as industries in which the younger generation can play a bigger role.

Leadership in Motion: Leveraging Skills and Talent
Small Hall 2, Palace of Independence, Astana, Kazakhstan

The WIEF Young Leaders Forum 2011, in conjunction with the 7th WIEF in Astana, Kazakhstan, bears the theme of "Leadership in Motion: Leveraging Skills and Talent" to reflect the growing number of young people taking up positions of influence and leadership in the Muslim World. Being a region with the highest percentage of young people and where leadership succession is one of the most critical issues of the day, the Muslim World is undergoing an important period of transition. By leveraging on successful individuals and best practices around the world, the Muslims, especially the younger generation can benefit from an infusion of ideas and an exchange of skills. Throughout the four plenary sessions, the 2011 Forum sheds light on the most important aspects of leadership, focusing on critical leadership areas as well as industries in which the younger generation can play a bigger role.

Leadership in Motion: Anecdotes of Success
To create leaders of tomorrow and chart the future of a nation, stories of success must be shared and built upon from generation to generation. The journey to success is filled with various challenges and it takes strong determination, creativity and vision to turn these challenges into opportunities. Stories of success in the past are invaluable anecdotes that can help mould a positive future for the next generation of leaders.
• What are the winning criterias of leaders?
• How can success be institutionalized?
• Do peer-to-peer mentorship schemes work on a large scale?
• Can a culture of success be nurtured from the bottom?
Speakers:
• Jamail Larkins, Founder, Ascension Aircraft, USA
• Sandiaga Uno, Managing Director, Sarafoga Capital, Indonesia
• Khairy Jamaluddin Abu Bakar, Chairman, UMNO’s Youth Wing, Malaysia

PLENARY 2:

Humanising Prosperity: Making Social Entrepreneurship Work
Social entrepreneurship is an idea of sustaining businesses that helps improve the wellbeing of society. When governments and the corporate sector are unable to address societal issues, the responsibility lies on the young men and women who hold social ideals and an entrepreneurship spirit. A conducive ecosystem for social entrepreneurship must include the key role-players namely the government, the corporate sector and civil society.

- How do we single out the social entrepreneurs in our society?
- How do great ideas turn into great business plans?
- What are the institutions crucial to help nurture a social entrepreneurship framework?
- What kind of synergy can we expect from the tripartite relationship of the government, corporate sector and civil society?

Speakers:
- Hideyuki Inoue, Founder, Social Venture Center, Japan
- Martin Burt, Founder & CEO, Fundación Paraguaya
- Zhuldyz Omarbekova, Chairman of the Organising Committee, Altyn Zhurek National Award, Kazakhstan
- Kamal Quadir, Founder, CellBazaar, Bangladesh

12.15pm - 1.15pm
PLENARY 3:

Creating Change Through Arts: Images, Fables and Poetry
Where mainstream media fails to convey the plight of a people, it is time for arts to tell a story. The power of creative arts to educate and to change opinions and worldviews is a force to be reckoned with. With a lot of misconceptions pervading mainstream media, the role of arts in correcting the wrong has become increasingly important in today’s world.

- How does creative writing impact society?
- What is the effectiveness of documentaries and films in telling the story of a people?
- How do we get media experts, creative writers and filmmakers to work together?
- What is the funding prospect of the creative arts industry?

Speakers:

Nurturing Glocal Champions: Building the Right Ecosystem
SMEs play a pivotal role in shaping the domestic economy. In some countries, SMEs are the major employers of the country’s labour force. Not only do they maintain the circulation of domestic wealth, they also contribute significantly to economic development. But how keen are we in developing these dynamic change agents? Do we have the right framework in place to assist their growth?

- What are the ingredients to a conducive ecosystem for SME growth?
- How can the funding mechanism for SMEs be better managed?
- What is the support framework needed to bring SMEs to the next level?
- Can governments play a pivotal role in developing the SME sector?

Speakers:

DIALOGUE SESSION 1
The Art of the Tengri: Exploring the Culture of the Steppes
Venue: The Kiz Uli Chat Room, Level 3
Central Asia is home to the Tengri tradition, a culture specific to the people of the Steppes. With the advent of Islam in the region, the Tengri culture assumes a unique fusion of artistic expressions and symbols. This ancient culture has survived the sands of time, and it is therefore time to unravel its hidden beauties. This session explores key questions such as:
- What are Tengri values?
- What are the main elements of Tengri Art?
- What are the mediums in which Tengri Art can be visible?
- How has Islam contributed to the flourishing of the Arts in Central Asia?
- What is needed to nurture Tengri Art into the modern context?
Panelists:
- Tolik Gadomamadov – Filmmaker and Organiser, The Roof of the World Festival, Tajikistan
- Esengali Sadyrbayev, Painter, Kazakhstan
- Guhzim Omirzak, Handicraft Artist, Kazakhstan

MARKETPLACE MARKETPLACE
The Arts is often thought of as a peripheral industry – ‘something on the sides which does not pay the bills’. This perception may in turn reduce the support given to young budding artists to pursue their aspirations. The resultant lack of opportunities and other support systems crucial for young artists to further nurture their talents is the main reason why the industry has stagnated to what it is today. But Art is about everything. It is about being creative and thinking beyond the realm of the obvious. These are important skills that can be employed across different industries. Key questions to explore are:

- What are the common misperceptions about the Arts?
- How do we mitigate these misperceptions?
- What are the support systems readily available in the Muslim World and how do we make it better?
- What role can the governments play in securing a better future for the industry?
- What role does information technology/new media play in propagating appreciation of the arts?

Panelists:
- Nurlan Turekhanov, Director, Mechanical Piano, Kazakhstan
- Altimet, Hip-Hop Artist, Malaysia
- Mo Amer, Comedian, USA
- Alexey Velizhanin, Founder of Alexey Velizhanin's Dance Theatre

Entrepreneurship as a Vehicle of Growth: A Roadmap to Success
Entrepreneurship is a mindset or culture that emerges as a result of a combination of factors involving various stakeholders and institutions in society. Institutions such as the education system, civil society, labour and the business sector play very crucial roles in creating the right ecosystem for entrepreneurship to flourish. It is therefore pivotal that government policies facilitate the empowerment of these institutions to nurture a culture of entrepreneurship amongst its people. A sound ecosystem can help create generations of citizens who can come up with innovative ideas to create products and services that can uplift society’s socio-economic wellbeing.

- What is the main role of governments in creating this ecosystem?
- How can other stakeholders such as the private sector and civil society facilitate in this process?
- What role can a more vigorous business sector do in opening up new markets and venturing abroad?

Islamic Banking and Finance in Emerging Markets: Seizing Opportunities, Overcoming Challenges
Islamic banking and finance is one of the fastest growing industries in the world. The fact that the Islamic financial service industry has been largely immune to this crisis had led to its greater growth in the future. This would encourage the Islamic banking industry players to explore the possibility of expanding their operations to new emerging economies to secure greater returns on their investment.

- What is the future outlook for these emerging economies?
- How can the industry capture growth potential of these emerging economies?
- What are the regulatory frameworks and the challenges that could be expected?

DAY 2 (Thursday, 9 June 2011)
9.00am – 10.30am
PARALLEL SESSIONS

SESSION 1: Deploying Innovative Technologies for Infinite Possibilities

The cataclysmic economic events of the past two years have demonstrated that businesses cannot afford to continue to govern and manage their organizations and institutions – both public and private – using the same assumptions or models of the past. It is important to change the perception on technology and innovation, their role in economic development and how to create policies that foster innovation. Globally, innovation is recognized as the premier path to economic expansion.

- Would public-private partnership be the best way to fund these technologies?
- What role should the government have to advance research in these areas?
- What are the main challenges and obstacles?
- How do we develop innovative approaches toward improving corporate culture integration and eliminating needless complexity?
- Should companies adopt the 'offensive' approach, implementing talent strategies dedicated to driving innovation?

Venue: Great Hall, Palace of Independence, Astana, Kazakhstan
Speakers:
- Jehan Ara, President, Pakistan Software Houses Association for IT & ITEST (P@SHA), India
- Suvopriyo Mukherjee, Head of International Partnership of Global Talent Track, India

- Kairat Tilebaldinov, Chairman, JSC Kazakhstan PPP Center
- Deborah Leary OBE, FRSA, Founder & CEO of Forensic Pathways (FPL)

Moderator:
Dr. Mezyad Alterkawi, CEO, Riyadh Technology Incubation Centre

SESSION 2: Infrastructure Development: Investing for the Future

A sound infrastructure is an essential backbone to a country’s economic strength. It supports economic activities, improves human capital, creates jobs, opens up new markets and improves public services. Despite the challenging economic environment, infrastructure investments and projects must go on. Public-private partnerships in infrastructure development are crucial to stave off recession and continue to create employment opportunities.

- Which sectors represent the greatest opportunities for growth?
- Where can investors, financiers, developers, and government officials discover where to invest?
- How can project developers raise capital and forge the partnerships needed to get business done?

Venue: Small Hall 1, Palace of Independence, Astana, Kazakhstan

- Zeki Pilege, President, Turkuaz Group of Companies, Turkey

Moderator:
Imad Hindi, General Manager, National Beverage Company & Coca-Cola, Palestine

SESSION 3: Innovating SMEs: Driving Future Growth

In an era of globalisation, for any small or medium sized enterprise to grow and prosper it must have the competitive edge. The complex yet dynamic environment of global markets today presents new and exciting challenges to even the most experienced business leaders. To remain competitive in this climate a business needs to review its practices, become innovative, increase productivity, seek new alliances and manage its resources more effectively.

- What are the opportunities and challenges that SMEs face in the present environment?
- How could SMEs cultivate and develop an innovative culture to stay ahead in today’s technology and knowledge driven global economy?
- What are the future global trends that may alter business competitiveness what is the role of government in fostering creativity, innovation and productivity?

SESSION 4:
Food Security: Balancing Trade and Social Needs
By 2050, the world’s population is projected to reach 9.1 billion. Together with the ensuing consumption growth, the global demand for food will increase for another 40 years. Growing competition for land, water, and energy as well as the overexploitation of resources, will affect our ability to produce food. The effects of climate change are a further threat. The world must produce more food and ensure that it is used more efficiently and equitably. A multifaceted and linked global strategy is needed to ensure sustainable and equitable food security.

- How can we forge a partnership between public and private sectors to promote and improve food security?
- What are the challenges, risks and possible drivers of future food crises?
- How can the private sector play a role in reducing the likelihood of future crises?
- What can be done to protect, conserve and enhance the natural resources required to support the required growth in the production of food?
- How do we guarantee that everyone has access to the food they need for an active and healthy life?

SESSION 6: Harvesting Alternative Energy: Cleaner, Greener, Safer
Energy harvesting has been around for centuries in the form of windmills, watermills and passive solar power systems. In recent decades, technologies such as wind turbines, hydro-electric generators and solar panels have turned harvesting into a small but growing contributor to the world’s energy needs. This technology offers two main advantages: virtually inexhaustible sources and little or no adverse environmental effects.

• What are the latest trends and current technologies being used today?
• Who are the leaders in renewable energy and who are the laggards?
• What is the market potential for renewable energy and what level of investment is required to help it reach full potential?
• What is the role of government in promoting the application of these alternative energy? What supporting policy framework and direction does the renewable energy industry need from government?
• Can markets and policies deliver a clean revolution at a time when climate change science is coming under fire?

7th WIEF Programmes

2.00pm – 3.30pm PLENARY THREE: Islamic Banking and Finance: Raising the Bar
Despite a global financial setback that has jeopardized the integrity of the conventional banking system, the Islamic banking industry has not been expanding at a desirable rate. Islamic finance as a whole has not been able to capitalize on the credibility gap left by the conventional system of debt and inflation. This problem can be attributed to the restricted outreach of its market base and the lack of sound infrastructure crucial for it to grow to its maximum potential. But the current tide is in its favour. Now Islamic finance is a household name in many countries and has even made its way into different regions across Europe and North America, all competing to get a slice of lucrative Muslim capital.

• What is the current state of the Islamic finance landscape in the aftermath of the global crisis? What are its growth strategies? How do we define its next stage of evolution?
• Are interpretations of Islamic finance principles real impediments to its growth?
• Is harmonization possible in the varying regulatory frameworks governing Islamic banking? What are the practical steps towards this direction?

Venue: Great Hall, Palace of Independence, Astana, Kazakhstan
Speakers:
• H.E. Bolat Zhamishev, Minister of Finance, Kazakhstan
• Richard Thomas, CEO, FCSI, UK
• Saad Rahman, Executive Director, Global Islamic Banking, Calyon Credit Agricole CB

In 1960-1969, he worked at the Karaganda Metallurgical Combine. In 1969-1973, he was involved in the Party and Komsomol work in Temirtau of the Karaganda region. In 1973-1977, he was a secretary of the party committee at the Karaganda Metallurgic Factory. In 1977-1979, he served as secretary of the Regional Committee of the Party in Karaganda. From 1979 through 1984, he served as Secretary of the Committee of the Communist Party of the RK.

From 1984 through 1989, he was a Chairman of the Ministers Council of the Kazakh Soviet Socialist Republic. In 1989-1991, he served as First Secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Kazakhstan. From February to April 1990, he concurrently worked as Chairman of the Supreme Council of the Kazakh Soviet Socialist Republic.

At the first general elections of the President of the Republic of Kazakhstan in 1991 Nursultan Nazarbayev achieved a landslide victory, receiving 98.7% of votes. On April 28, 1995, through a popular referendum, the terms of office for the President were extended until the year 2000. In subsequent elections of 1999, 2005 and 2011, he was re-elected as the President of the Republic of Kazakhstan.

Nursultan Nazarbayev is the Supreme Commander in Chief of the Armed Services of the Republic of Kazakhstan as well as the Chairman of the World Association of Kazakhs.
Prime Minister of Malaysia Dato' Sri Mohd Najib was appointed as Malaysia's 6th Prime Minister on 3 April 2009. He succeeded Tun Abdullah Ahmad Badawi, who did not seek reelection as Umno President.

Dato' Sri Najib, the eldest son of Malaysia's second Prime Minister, Tun Abdul Razak Hussein, was born in the district of Kuala Lipis in the state of Pahang. He received his primary and secondary education at one of the country's leading schools in the country, St John's Institution. He then continued his secondary education at the Malvern Boy's College, Worcestershire, England. Upon completion of his secondary education, Dato' Sri Najib enrolled at the University of Nottingham and graduated in 1974 in industrial economics.

On his return to Malaysia in the same year, Dato' Sri Najib joined the national oil company, Petronas, as an executive where he served for two years before taking the plunge into politics following the sudden demise of his father in 1976. He was the obvious choice of the ruling National Front coalition to contest the Pekan parliamentary seat vacated by his late father. The national outpouring of grief following Tun Razak's death and the respect for his father tremendous contributions toward Malaysia's development, saw Dato' Sri Najib elected unopposed as Member of Parliament at the very young age of 23.

It was to mark the start of Dato' Sri Najib's long association in politics and government service. Following his unopposed victory as Member of Parliament in 1976, Dato' Sri Najib was appointed the Deputy Minister of Energy, Telecommunications and Posts. He had also served as Deputy Education and Deputy Finance Minister. In the 1982 general elections, he stood in the state seat of Bandar Pekan and was subsequently appointed the Menteri Besar of Pahang until 1986.

Following the general elections in 1986 where he re-contested and won the parliamentary seat of Pekan, Dato' Sri Najib was appointed the Minister of Culture, Youth and Sports. Under his stewardship Malaysia made its best ever showing in the Sea Games where the country came out on top in the medal tally for the first time in the history of the game. He also introduced the National Sports Policy which outlines the development of sports in the country and introduced monetary incentives for the Malaysian athletes who won medals at the Olympics Games.

In 1990, Dato' Sri Najib was appointed Defence Minister, a senior position within the government by the Prime Minister, Dato' Sri Dr Mahathir Mohamad. He embarked on the modernization of the Armed Forces, moving it towards a leaner fighting force capable of handling any conventional threats. The Armed Forces modernization, among others, saw Malaysia's acquisition of new assets such the Russian aircrafts MiG 29, Boeing F18 Super Hornet, the F-2000 tritgers, the 155m artillery gun and the upgrading of the country's air defence with the acquisition of a new radar system. The welfare and well-being of the armed forces personnel were given due attention including improving their housing facilities and allowances.

In 1995, Dato' Sri Najib was appointed to a much more prominent ministry, which is the Ministry of Education. During his tenure the country’s education system underwent a major reform with the passing of six legislations, the main one being, The Education Act 1996, to facilitate a more market driven education system.

The legal framework saw the country’s education system undergo massive reforms and sweeping changes to the institutions of learning. It allowed them to offer a wider range of courses, different options and approaches to learning and new teaching methods. Today, there is greater choices and places for Malaysians to pursue their higher education locally or abroad. Besides that, there is an increasing number of foreign students pursuing their studies at local and foreign learning institutions in Malaysia.

Indeed, Dato' Sri Najib had a big part in this move to build a world class education system that is flexible and innovative in Malaysia as well as turning the country into a regional education hub and center of excellence. Besides that, the well-being of teachers were given due attention with the introduction of time-based promotion, better starting salary for new teachers and special housing projects for teachers.

During the 1999 general elections Dato' Sri Najib received a major setback when he barely scrapped through with a majority of 241 votes for the predominantly Malay Pekan parliamentary seat compared to the over 10,000 majority in the previous election. It came as a shock for him and the political observers. However, it was not a complete surprise as the election came at the height of the 1999 political upheaval.

Following the elections, he was appointed Defence Minister for the second time and proceeded with the modernization of the Armed Forces which came to a halt following the financial crisis of 1997. Major acquisitions include the purchase of the new Russian fighter aircraft Suhoi Su30 MKM, submarines which the Royal Malaysian Navy had sought for many years and the Polish tanks. Also, the short-range air defence system. Jernas, was acquired for the Army. For the Armed Forces personnel, several allowances were improved in particular flying allowances for air force pilots and higher starting salaries for new recruits.

The 2004 general elections which came a few months after Dato' Sri Najib’s elevation as the Deputy Prime Minister, saw him winning his parliamentary seat with a whopping 22,922 majority. It was one of the highest majority in the elections and undoubtedly the most improved performance by a candidate.

In the 2008 general election, Dato' Sri Najib was re-elected to the Pekan parliamentary seat with a majority of 26,464. It was the highest majority for Barisan Nasional despite the overall drop in support for the coalition government in that general election.

He remained as Defence Minister until September 2008 when he took over as Finance Minister in 2008 from Dato' Seri Abdullah. In March 2009, Dato' Sri Najib was elected unopposed as Umno President after Dato' Seri Abdullah decided not to seek re-election. Subsequently, in April, Dato' Seri Abdullah announced he was stepping down as Prime Minister and Dato' Sri Najib was sworn in as Prime Minister. He still holds the Finance Ministry post.

Under his premiership, the nation has embarked on a journey of transformation within Malaysia’s multicultural, multi-religious context. The cornerstone is his 1Malaysia initiative, which emphasizes national unity.

Dato' Sri Najib has also launched a Government Transformation Programme to improve the quality of public services, increase efficiency, and make government more transparent. The programme sets Key Performance Indicators to measure the performance of officials and agencies and National Key Result Areas to define goals for specific areas of public policy. He also introduced a new cabinet position to support the Unity and Performance Minister in implementing the KPI system.

To drive the nation forward, Dato' Sri Najib introduced a New Economic Model with reforms to create a business environment conducive to economic growth, development and investment. The goal is to make Malaysia a high-income nation and a developed country by 2020. Transformation and further liberalization of the economy are vital to this.

Dato' Sri Najib is married to Datin Sri Rosmah Mansor and he has five children.
Following the decree to reorganize the political structure of the country in 1971, the Emirate of Bahrain was renamed the State of Bahrain and the Ruler of Bahrain was changed to Emir of Bahrain. Furthermore, the President of the State Council was changed to Prime Minister and Members of the State Council to Ministers.

The Cabinet of Ministers, guided by the now Prime Minister, worked to bring Bahrain up to speed with other modern nations and reach the hopes and dreams of its people. Since then, the country has gone from one success to another, becoming a model for larger countries with bigger human and natural capital.

HRH Prince Khalifa is currently married with three children: Mohammed (deceased), Ali, and Salman. He regularly meets with key pillars of the community and invites them to his palace in the evening to discuss various affairs. His court receives a large number of letters from Bahrain’s citizens requesting help in various matters. He usually forwards these letters to the proper entities or issues answers to these letters himself.

HRH Prince Khalifa bin Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa has served as the Prime Minister of the Kingdom of Bahrain since its Independence in 1971. He is the second son of the former ruler of Bahrain Shaikh Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa and the uncle of His Majesty King Hamad bin Isa bin Salman Al Khalifa.

He was born on the 24th of November 1935, and grew up in the care of his father, H.H. Shaikh Salman bin Hamad Al Khalifa, ruler of Bahrain from 1942 to 1961. Ever since he was a child, his father instilled in him a strong sense of responsibility by assigning him to learn the Quran under the guidance of one of Bahrain’s most eminent scholars. Upon becoming 7 years of age, his father instructed that he and his brother attend his father’s court in which he met with Bahrain’s citizens to learn about their problems and concerns, and closely understand the manner by which his father ran the country’s affairs.

Before beginning his formal education in a government school, he started his formal education and was assigned one of the most capable teachers of the time by his father. As a young man, he traveled intermittently to England to study from 1957 to 1959.

From 1953 since serving as an Assistant in his father’s ruling court, he has had an extended and distinguished service in various levels and fields including, but not limited to:

- Member of the Rental Solutions Committee (September 1954)
- President of the Educational Board (January 1957)
- Member of the Electricity Committee (December 1957)
- Acting Secretary of the Government of Bahrain (August 1958)
- President of government Finance (November 1960)
- President of Irrigation Council (November 1961)
- President of Monetary Council (December 1964)
- President of Immigration and Residency Appeals Council (August 1965)
- President of Management Council (May 1966)
- President of State Council (January 1970)
Ismail Omar Guelleh is the President of the Republic of Djibouti. Born November 27, 1947 in Dire Dawa, Ethiopia, he is the son of Omar Guelleh, who served in the thirties, the first wave of indigenous teachers before working with the Railway Company from Djibouti to Ethiopia. He is also the grandson of Guelleh Batal, one of the great figures in Djibouti’s history who co-signed the treaty with France.

In the period of struggle for independence during which he demonstrated a commitment that led to his ousting from the body of the General Security in 1974. From that date, he placed all his energy to inject new impetus to the LPA (African People’s League) led by Gouled.

During this crucial period that shaped the destiny of the nation’s future, he participated actively in the citizens’ awareness of independence. He frequently participated in international conferences and this experience led to his appointment as a member of the delegation of LPAI responsible for conducting negotiations towards independence in Paris in 1976.

After the proclamation of independence, he was called upon to shoulder the heavy responsibility of Chief of Staff. He was only 30 years old at the time. A close associate of the President, the young Chief of Staff had to immediately cope with two major challenges facing the new state: namely – assuming the heavy burden of internal and external security of the country; and controlling the risks of inter-ethnic clashes. In this regional context in turmoil, the young republic has demonstrated remarkable pragmatism in upholding its principles of neutrality.

An RPP (Popular Rally for Progress party) activist since its inception March 4, 1979 and then Chairman of the Central Committee in 1981, he directed the Cultural Committee of the party before joining its highest political level in 1987 as a member of the Political Bureau.

Upon signing the Peace Treaty between the Government and FRUD, the qualities of a refined politician have been proven in the negotiating process, which culminated in the signing of the Peace treaties of December 24, 1994 and 12 May 2001; and this was without the mediation of a third country. Building on this success and following the political storm that shook the party in 1996, he assumed the position of third Vice President of the Political Bureau. Thereafter, his dedication, rich experience, fierce defence of national interests, his sense of humility, tolerance, and constant focus to serve the state legitimately justified his ascension in the political qualities that distinguish him from other candidates and rank him well in the small category of approachable and humble politicians.

Now in his sixties, President Ismail Omar Guelleh, by his natural abilities and renowned name, became the ideal leader of his party. A good communicator, refined diplomat and strategist with an accurate and profound vision of the socio-political situation in his country, the candidate of the RPP has always put his skills to service of the state.

The history speaks for itself. A fighter for independence in the past, his dedication, his regulatory role during the tense hours inside the country and his perfect appreciation of the interests of the nation, are all facts that have not gone unnoticed among his fellow citizens.

Dr. Ahmed Mohamed Ali Al-Madani is the first President of the Islamic Development Bank (IsDB) since 1975.

Dr. Ali was born in Saudi Arabia in 1934, where he completed his early education. He holds a B.A. degree in Commerce and Law from Cairo University. He earned his M.A. and PhD degrees, both in Public Administration, from the University of Michigan and State University of New York (SUNY) in 1962 and 1967. He is married and has four children.

He returned to Saudi Arabia as the Acting Rector of King Abdulaziz University from 1967 to 1972. In 1972, he was selected to serve as Deputy Minister of Education and served for three years. When the member countries of the Organization of the Islamic Conference (OIC) decided to establish the Islamic Development Bank, he was chosen as its first President.

His education, background and experience has helped him to establish a strong base for the mission of the development of the Bank. His qualifications, background and commitment to development of people have enabled him to take up the challenges of managing the IDB and to widen the spectrum of development by addressing the various issues, as reflected in the activities of the Bank.

Dr. Ali’s views on development have been expressed in many articles, speeches, lectures and working papers on Islamic Economics, Banking and Education. He is a firm believer that Islamic principles and its applications in Economics and Banking has a lot to offer the world and thus contribute positively towards solving the current economic crisis.

He is keen on taking the IDB to a world of excellence with the Vision 1440H, which was delineated on behalf of the Bank by a group of Eminent Persons. The Vision 1440H Document aims at alleviating poverty, eradicating illiteracy, providing better health facilities to the people, strengthening ties with the private sector, NGOs, and striving for the cause of development of women, etc. He looks at development as a comprehensive and integrated phenomenon that has to be continuously reviewed and closely coordinated. He seeks cooperation with all people who would like to contribute to a better life for all humans in this global village.

Tun Abdullah Ahmad Badawi’s career as a civil servant, political leader, diplomat and statesman spanned 45 years. He was born in 1939 into a prominent religious family in the northern state of Penang. Graduating in Islamic Studies from the University of Malaya, Abdullah started in the Malaysian civil service in 1964. He left the civil service as Deputy Secretary General of the Ministry of Culture, Youth & Sports to become a politician in 1978, and rose to become Prime Minister of Malaysia 25 years later, in October 2003.

Abdullah held various positions in government, including Minister in the Prime Minister’s Department, Minister of Education, Minister of Defence, Minister of Foreign Affairs, Minister of Home Affairs and Minister of Finance. Excelling in diplomacy and international relations, as Prime Minister, Abdullah sought to improve bilateral and multi-lateral cooperation, actively leading (among others) the Association of South-East Asian Nations (ASEAN), Non-Aligned Movement (NAM) and Organisation of Islamic Conference (OIC) when Malaysia assumed the chair of these international organisations.

As Prime Minister, Abdullah introduced the concept of Islam Hadhari to guide development efforts in Malaysia and the wider Islamic world. This move towards progressive Islamic civilisation seeks to make Muslims understand that progress is enjoined by Islam. It is an approach that is compatible with modernity and yet firmly rooted in the noble values and injunctions of Islam. Islam Hadhari espouses ten fundamental principles, which were accepted by Muslims and non-Muslims alike.

Abdullah focused on human capital development as a key pillar of his Administration. This went beyond merely strengthening lower and higher education in Malaysia, to enhancing mindsets and infusing ethical, moral and religious values. Science and technology was further promoted, while innovation and creativity was pushed to the fore.
As Chairman of the OIC, Abdullah waged a war against poverty and the lack of knowledge and development in the Muslim world. Besides emphasising the enhancement of education in OIC countries, Malaysia sought to share its experience in national economy development by initiating a series of self-help projects involving OIC Members and the Islamic Development Bank with the objective of increasing capacities in several poor member countries of the OIC. The immediate purpose was to generate income and provide employment, while the longer-term intention was to assist the OIC countries upgrade their governance and development efforts.

Abdullah also sought to provide an economic face to the OIC, in a bid to enhance trade, business and investment linkages between Member countries. The World Islamic Economic Forum (WIEF), of which Abdullah is the founder patron, continues to be an important gathering of government and business leaders from the Muslim world and beyond. International Halal forums and trade expositions, initiated by Malaysia, are now held regularly throughout the globe to advance Halal industries, for the benefit of the larger Ummah.

Tun Abdullah married the late Tun Endon Dato’ Mahmood in 1965 and after 40 years of marriage, lost her after a prolonged battle with cancer on 20 October 2005. They have 2 children and 6 grandchildren. Tun Abdullah married Tun Jeanne Abdullah on 9 June 2007.

Abdullah stepped down as Prime Minister on 3 April 2009. He remains committed to pursuing development, promoting progressive Islam and enhancing understanding between the Muslim and Western worlds. He is Chairman of the Malaysian Institute of Islamic Understanding (IKIM), and Patron of the Institute of Advanced Islamic Studies (IAIS) in Kuala Lumpur which he established in 2009. He is the founding patron for the World Islamic Economic Forum. He holds several government advisory roles, including Malaysia’s regional growth corridors and Malaysia Airlines. Internationally, Abdullah is the member of the InterAction Council, board member of BOAO Forum for Asia (BFA) and World Muslims Foundation, and Chair of the Commonwealth Eminent Persons Group.

Cassam Uteem, G.C.S.K., born in March 1941 in Port Louis, Mauritius, is the holder of a Bachelor’s degree in Art and a Master’s degree in Psychology from Paris VII University.

As a youth leader and social worker, he was involved in local community work and, in the early seventies, joined the leftist political party, the Militant Movement of Mauritius (MMM) and rose to become its deputy-leader.

In July 1992, he was elected President of the Republic of Mauritius and re-elected in 1997 for a second 5-year term. He resigned his post in February 2002, after refusing to give his assent to the Prevention of Terrorism Act.

He is currently a member of the Africa Forum (of former African Heads of State), member of the International Jury for the UNESCO Prize of Education for Peace, Founder-Member of the Global Leadership Foundation (GLF) and Member of the Club de Madrid.

His Excellency Shaukat Aziz was the first Prime Minister of Pakistan to complete a full term in office. His Excellency served as Prime Minister from 2004 – 2007, following a five-year term as Finance Minister in 1999.

Known for securing significant US loans in return for Pakistan’s support in the war on terror, PM Aziz restored his country’s credibility within the global market. He is renowned for his strategic approach, transparency, and ability to focus on doing what is best, not simply what is politically expedient.

After graduating from Gordon College, Rawalpindi, in 1967, Shaukat Aziz gained an MBA Degree from Institute of Business Administration (IBA) in Karachi.

An internship at Citibank marked the beginning of a 30-year career in global finance, encompassing roles in Pakistan, Greece, United States, United Kingdom, Malaysia, the Philippines, Jordan, Saudi Arabia, and Singapore. He headed Citigroup’s global Private Banking Division and progressed to a senior position with the bank in New York.

Dato’ Dayang Fatimah Abang Saufi (Dato’ Tom) is one of Malaysia’s most loved fashion designers, known especially for her fusion of the modern with the traditional ethnic designs of Southeast Asia. Tom started designing soon after finishing her fashion design course in London in 1986.

Tom Abang Saufi’s TAS designs are for the modern woman in mind, although somewhat ironically eschewing, where possible, zips and buttons to allow the fabric to accentuate the contours of the human body for maximum style and minimal fuss. A carefree spirit and fun-loving approach to life are reflected in her saucy chic, bold use of colour and instinctive understanding of the tools of her trade.

“What makes TAS so different is that we design our own fabrics – hand-painted batik, the patterns for which we conceive and design in house before they are created by our team of highly skilled craftsmen. We are involved in the process from start to finish, which allows us to maintain the highest standards of quality,” explains Habsah Abang Saufi, Tom’s sister and the TAS' Managing Director.

Tom draws inspiration from a myriad of sources, especially and significantly from the rich cultural heritage of the place of her origin, Sarawak.

Dato’ Tom who, despite being named Malaysian Designer of the Year in 2004, and winning many other awards and accolades in her career, knows that fashion, like everything else in life, is subject to the laws of evolution.

Dr. Amany Asfour graduated from the Faculty of Medicine at Cairo University and acquired a Master’s degree & M.D. in Pediatrics. During her academic career, she was a Lecturer of Pediatrics at the National Research Center of Egypt. She then joined the private sector and within a few years, she was able to establish a company for medical equipment with over 30 brands.

Her interests were not limited to establishing her private business; she soon realized the importance of creating an organization targeting economic women empowerment and young women entrepreneurship promotion. As a result, she established the Egyptian Business Women Association in 1995, with the objective of promoting the younger generation of women entrepreneurs and giving guidance to women business owners of small and medium enterprises.

She directed her activities towards economic empowerment of women, capacity building, development of human resources and stressing equal opportunity for the youth and women in terms of education, training and promotion of women and youth in science and technology.

She recognizes that economic empowerment of women is necessary for economic growth and development. She founded The African Alliance for Women Empowerment, which has focal points all over Africa and its main target is women empowerment and promoting economic integration among women and youth entrepreneurs and building partnerships with their colleagues in Asia, Europe and the rest of the world.

Dr. Asfour is lobbying for women empowerment locally and internationally and was granted many awards from Egypt, Africa, the Arab world, and the Islamic World.

Dyno Keatinge holds a Doctorate from Queen’s University, Belfast and a Visiting Professor of Tropical Agriculture at Reading, UK. He is an agronomist and devoted much of his career spent working in Islamic countries. He was a founder staff member of the International Center for Agricultural Research in the Dry Areas (ICARDA) in Syria. He then transferred to Pakistan (1985-1990) and developed ICARDA’s highlands research on crop-range-livestock systems. Finally, he started the ICARDA Highlands Regional Coordinated Program for Central and West Asia and North Africa (1990-1993) from Ankara, Turkey.

Subsequently, he took up a Chair at the University of Reading in the United Kingdom and was concerned with improving agricultural and rural systems. In 1999, he became Director Resource and Crop Management Division at the International Institute of Tropical Agriculture (IITA) in Ibadan, Nigeria.

He then became Deputy Director General (Research) in 2002, at the International Crops Research Institute for the Semi-Arid Tropics (ICRISAT); which addresses the dryland research needs in sub-Saharan Africa and Asia. In 2008, he became the Director General of AVRDC, The World Vegetable Center based in Taiwan. This Center specializes in both exotic and indigenous species of vegetables and holds the largest collection of public-sector tropical vegetable germplasm in the world.

His driving concern now is to encourage people to consume a sufficient but better balanced diet. Overcoming malnutrition is his principal goal; this implies not only vitamin and mineral deficiency problems such as lack of vitamins A and C and insufficient iron and zinc, but also imbalanced nutrition from excess carbohydrate and fat consumption, which is causing obesity, and now commonly serious human diseases such as type II diabetes and metabolic syndrome.

Kamal Mouzawak is a food and travel writer specializing in traditional, healthy and organic living. After extensive work and research of local culinary traditions, recipes and ingredients; Kamal co-presented a successful TV show about his work called “Sohtak bel Sahenn” – Health in the Plate. The show had a strong impact on many people, especially pushing producers towards a responsible production.

The need of a market emerged and ‘Souk el Tayeb’ was formed in June 2004, for local, natural, traditional and organic food products; from producer to consumer. Souk el Tayeb is a producers-only market; gathering farmers, producers and cooks from all parts of Lebanon, to share fresh fruits and vegetables, mounah, and home cooked food.

Souk el Tayeb has been an important factor to bring Lebanese people from different regions, religions, and politics around a common project: the land, its produce and its cuisine. In an organic evolution, other projects developed; in which awareness, information and education are a priority, like “Souk al School”, the “Kitchen Workshop”; and the “Eco market”, an example of sustainable architecture and a showcase of good environmental practices.

Regional food and tradition festivals were launched in 2007. ‘Tawlet’, one of the latest development project, the producers’ co-op kitchen, in which a different producer or cook from a different region, prepares typical food specialties.

Saad joined Credit Agricole CIB Bahrain in September 2005, to help establish the new Islamic banking team. Saad is head of the team that has a global mandate focusing on origination, new product development, and structuring.

Prior to joining Credit Agricole CIB, Saad worked for HSBC for 7 years - from 1998 to 2005 in both London and Dubai. In London, he had an opportunity to work for HSBC Holdings plc in the Global Credit Dept., in which he was responsible for Africa, Middle East and Turkey. In London and Dubai, he worked for HSBC’s Islamic Unit, HSBC Amanah. In Amanah, he was responsible for origination and structuring for Europe and Turkey.

The Islamic banking team, in a short period of time, has become a recognized market leader in providing client-centric solutions on a Shariah-compliant basis to Credit Agricole CIB’s clients. Very few deals happen in the region where Credit Agricole CIB is not involved.

Notable recognition came from Euromoney who awarded Credit Agricole CIB “Most Improved Islamic Finance House” for 2009.

Susan Schulman is an award-winning video/photojournalist. Originally trained as a fine artist, Schulman moved from her native New York to London in 1990 and worked as a filmmaker and editor before turning to photojournalism full-time in 2000. During the past ten years, she has chronicled many of the world’s forgotten tragedies - from the horrors of childbirth in Sierra Leone and child soldiers in Sudan, to the wretched plight of gold miners in the Amazon Basin. Through her characteristically frank and humane perspective, she has also captured soldiers and citizens caught up in some of the decade’s major conflicts, most notably from the frontlines of Iraq, Afghanistan and the Democratic Republic of Congo. Her work has been featured in the world’s foremost print and visual media, including The New York Times, The Financial Times, Architectural Digest (France), The Guardian, the Telegraph Travel magazine, Geographic magazine, PBS, BBC and Channel Four.

She has received numerous commissions from leading international organizations such as the United Nations High Commission for Refugees, the World Food Programme and Marie Stopes International, as well as Britain’s Department for International Development.

Most recently she received (with Ed Caesar) Amnesty International UK’s coveted Media Award (2010) for her devastating account of war and suffering in Africa’s Great Lakes region, ‘Congo – The Horror’, which appeared in GQ magazine.

Altimet’s experience as a professional live entertainer is second to none with over a decade’s worth of quality performances from the smallest of gigs to prestigious concerts and award shows.

Altimet ended 2010 on a high note with an incredible chart presence on two of Malaysia’s biggest radio stations Era FM and Hot FM. 2011 is shaping up to be an even bigger year for Altimet who will be releasing his third studio album entitled ‘Kotarayaku’. Altimet has toured the United Kingdom (February 2011), and is also confirmed to speak and perform at the World Islamic Economic Forum in Kazakhstan (June 2011) and perform in Boston, USA (June 2011).
Alexey Velizhanin began dancing at the age of 16. After a long journey, the Dance Theatre of Alexey Velizhanin was founded in 2004. Currently, the team is composed of 9 members.

Over the years, the theater has worked with many renowned choreographers. They work in various dance styles: folk stylized choreography, modern, neo-classic, show, pop choreography with elements of acrobatics. A sort of dance mixer, which in turn resulted to date in Kazakhstan’s most successful dance theater.

The Alexey Velizhanin dance troupe won the Grand Prix Award and the Audience Award in the ‘Stars of Dance 2005’ competition. They were also the Winners of the 10th international competition of creative young people, held under the auspices of UNESCO. He gave his first exclusive solo concert as a Charity Dance Theatre on May 15, 2005 in the capital’s Congress Hall. In February 2007, they hosted the second recital. On 1 March 2009, the staff was invited and officially admitted to the State Philharmonic of Astana.

Among the awards received by the Alexey Velizhanin dance troupe are; the Gold Medal in the Ballet category of the Dance World cup, Fifth place and the title of the award in the 9th Open Cup of Russia on the dance show Formation International Competition in St. Petersburg under the auspices of UNESCO, and a Gold Medal in the category: dance show which was performed by Alex Velizhanin and First Anastasia. They are also ranked among the top ten pairs of dancers in the world at the World Championship dancing show in Germany in November 2010.

Man-O-Wax (Asad Jafri) is the Director of Arts and Culture at the Inner-city Muslim Action Network (IMAN), a Chicago-based community organization that works for social justice, provides direct services, and cultivates the arts in urban communities. Since working with IMAN in 2003, Asad has been able to create spaces that bring together thousands of leaders, artists, and community members to collectively celebrate and engage in diverse and creative artistic expression.

Asad presents artists mainly through MAN’s ‘Community Café’ and ‘Takin’ It to the Streets’ festival, and cultivates MAN’s artist network through an annual Artist Retreat. These spaces also allow IMAN to utilize the arts as a tool for cross-cultural communication, spiritual expression, civic engagement and social change.

As a multidisciplinary artist, Asad has created, curated, and presented original productions across many genres of music, theater, visual art, and dance. Asad also DJs under the moniker ‘Man-o-Wax’; where he blends soulful music from all over the world. One of Asad’s DJ projects is ‘Turntable Dhikr’, a fusion of traditional and contemporary music dedicated to the praise of the Most High using turntables as the vehicle.

Asad’s fusion of art and social change through innovative mediums has been recognized throughout the country and around the globe. As a result, Asad is engaged in several US State Department activities and continues to travel extensively performing, presenting, and conducting workshops.
Bashir Ismail is a Somali by origin, but born and raised (partially) in Zimbabwe. He comes from a fairly large family dominated by boys. However, his parents called them “the soldiers” keeping an eye out for the princesses. He then moved to the Middle East, in particular the United Arab Emirates, where he continued his secondary education before moving again; this time to England, where he stayed for a year and a half to complete his A levels.

As he was adapting to the fast lifestyle of the West another opportunity came along to further his studies which entailed moving again to Southeast Asia, to a beautiful country called Malaysia. It was there that he completed his degree and masters. In addition to this “United Nations” experience, he loves playing sports, travelling and getting to meet different societies. He firmly believes that understanding different cultures and societies is what we need to eradicate our misunderstandings, so as to enhance our appreciation and respect for others no matter where they come from.

Eugene H. Johnson received his formal education in Kenya, Switzerland, England, West Germany and the United States. After graduating from the Free University of Berlin with a degree in Veterinary Medicine, he was trained in surgery and completed a PhD in Comparative Pathology at the University of California.

He has worked in Europe, Africa, the Caribbean, North and South America and for the last 15 years, he has served as a Professor of Comparative Medicine in Oman. Since 1974, he has concurrently worked as a photographer capturing those elusive moments when the camera is able to reveal the secrets of the human soul. Professor Johnson’s images are held in public and private collections around the world. He has authored two collections of his images and presently is working on a multi-volume series for the Diwan of Royal Court of Oman, entitled “Reflections From the Not So Distant Past in Oman”.

Endah N Rhesa is a musical project comprising of acoustic guitar, bass and vocal. The musical nuance that Endah N Rhesa tries to bring out is folk, jazz, blues, rock and roll, and ballads. Endah Widiastuti (vocal, guitar) and Rhesa Aditya (bass) met each other in a rock band in early 2003. Endah recorded the album entitled "The New Beginning", a four-track mini album that was independently distributed with a limited number of copies.

In one of the songs on the album, Rhesa added bass thumps and made it a fascinating mix of the three instruments (vocal, guitar and bass). The song is titled "When You Love Someone". From then on, Endah and Rhesa started to play together in campus events, and the feedback from their music was tremendously positive. Finally, they decided to come up with a stage name for their duo/ musical project; which comes from their own names: Endah N Rhesa.

Some of the awards received by the duo are: Rookie of The Year 2010 – Majalah Rolling Stone Indonesia; Produksi Karya Alternatif Terbaik untuk album Nowhere to Go 2010 – Anugerah Musik Indonesia (AMII); Nominasi Fav. Pop Song & Fav. Duo/grup 2010 – Indonesia Cutting Edge Music Awards (ICEMA); Best Acoustic Act se- Asia Tenggara 2009 – Jurskounds Award; Winner People’s Choice Award.

Their album 'Nowhere to Go' (2009) sold 17,000 copies. When it comes to their interests and hobbies, Endah and Rhesa love to ride bicycles, take walks, play games, eat spicy food, and draw. The acoustic duo aspires one day to set up their own company with an edge on the creative world, entertainment, music, design, merchandise and management.

Esengali Sadyrbaev was born in 1965. He is a Member of the Union of Artists of Kazakhstan.

He went to art school at NV Gogol, Kazakh State University, Abaya. He worked with Kazmuzeyrestavratsiya from 1985 to 2000.

Gulnar Suinbayeva was born in 1967, in the town of Kentau, South Kazakhstan region. From 1979 to 1983, she studied at Art School Kentau and from 1987-1992, she studied at the Almaty School of Arts and obtained a degree in ceramic arts. Since 2004, she has been a member of the Union of Artists of Kazakhstan.

Gulnar has participated in many urban, republican and international exhibitions. She has had numerous noteworthy exhibitions. In 2003, she had her first solo exhibition in the Central Exhibition Hall, in Almaty, and in 2004, she had an exhibition at Taldykorgan regional museum. In 2006, she displayed “Art of Kazakhstan” in Beijing, China and in Tokyo, Japan in 2008. Her art was displayed at the State Museum of Arts by Kasteev, “Motives of the East” in 2007 in Almaty and in 2009, she showcased at the hall of the Union of Artists in Almaty.

Gulnar’s works are in various private collections around the world, namely in the United States, France, Germany, Russia, Japan, China, Canada and many other countries in Europe and Asia.

Gulnazim Omirzak was born in 1984 in Bayan Olgiy, Mongolia. In 1992, she moved with her family to her historical homeland of Kazakhstan. After graduating from art college in 2003, Gulnazim was admitted to the National Academy of Arts under a faculty named after the famous artist T. Zhurgenev. In 2007, she received a diploma in easel painting and in 2009, she received a diploma of “Master of Fine Arts”.

Since she was 15 years old, Gulnazim has been engaged in the art of tambour embroidery. Since 2002, she participated in numerous international and national art conventions, as well as group and family projects in arts. Gulnazim is the winner of the 5th International Festival in Shabyt where she received a gold medal. In 2010, she was awarded the State Prize of "Daryn". Her works are in the Kasteev State Art Museum, as well as in private collections in France and Germany. She has created more than 200 works mostly of Tambour embroideries, a complicated art form that requires time and hard labour. Gulnazim also specializes in collage and oil painting, among many other art techniques.
Iskandar Idris and Nassar Zain both seek to discover new forms of knowledge production that on the one hand emanates from the folds of society itself, yet steering away from the rationally known and the familiar. In other words, it involves the production of new alternative forms from within the existing structures of society itself; creation of the unknown from the known.

This shared interest or rather point of view began during the days at architecture school, where they both met and started collaborating on various projects involving both art and the production of architectural spaces. In many ways both individuals look towards the practice of contemporary art as a premise to understanding society at large and articulate various ideas.

Madny Al Bakry is an Omani artist living and working in Muscat, Oman. It is said that the Islamic influences found in Picasso can be traced to his native Spain. Before him, the famous artist Paul Cezanne known as father of modern art, had been subtly inoculated with the abstract guidelines of the Islamic and Arabic calligraphy. The ornamental richness of Arabic calligraphy expresses more than just the meaning of words.

The flowing rhythmic script seems to imitate the basic rhythms of life. Like Matisse, many of the modernist painters in their yearning to express the power of life, repeatedly used, and are still using, the curvilinear shapes of the Arab calligraphers. Madny, a contemporary artist, in his stunning and unique use of calligraphy has awakened the senses of the viewers.

For the audience, Madny’s works present a new visual stimulation. Unlike the traditional two-dimensional Arabic calligraphy in limited colours, Madny’s work is unusual in its colour palette. His distinctive style and exquisite use of colours and themes have an ethereal quality while his presentation is contemporary and elegant. Providing depth and prospective, his eye-catching works lures the sense of the connoisseurs.
Mohammed ‘Mo’ Amer is an established standup comedian from Houston, Texas who tours comedy clubs, theatres, and art venues literally across the world. He has performed in over 27 countries on five continents—as the first and only Arab-American refugee comic to perform for U.S. and coalition troops overseas, as well as with ‘Allah Made Me Funny—The Official Muslim Comedy Tour.’

He has performed with many comedy legends, including Jeff Dunham, and Dave Chappelle, and he has appeared at the Las Vegas Comedy Festival, the Malmo Arts Festival (Sweden), and the World’s Funniest Island Festival (Australia). He has been interviewed on television and radio dozens of times, including on NPR, BBC, and CNN.

His work promotes art and understanding between the diverse cultures of the world, and his cultural and family background uniquely situate him to speak from the heart about the absurd problems of religion, terror, and the politics of our age—through the lens of honest, endearing, personal stories about his family and himself. Mo’s one-man show is entitled “Legally Homeless—Trials of a Refugee,” which debuted in front of 5000 fans at Olympic Square in Sydney, Australia. A world tour of “Legally Homeless” is presently in development.

Upin & Ipin is a 3D animated series about two 5-year-old twins and their exciting and colourful life in an blissful Malaysian village. Produced by Les’ Copaque Production, the series has been warmly embraced by Malaysians of all ages and has also gained an international fan base following its airing on Indonesian TV and Disney Channel Asia.

The first two seasons of the series focused on their experience going through the fasting month of Ramadhan. The third season onwards showcased stories with positive universal values and extolled the power of children’s imagination. Winning many accolades and awards, the Upin & Ipin series continues to enchant audiences with the right balance of education and entertainment. The series enters its fifth season this year.

Mohd Faiz bin Mohd Hanafiah (Art Director)
He was recruited into Les’ Copaque Production through invitation by the founders and joined the team as a part-timer during his final year of studies. After graduation, he became a full-time member of the company. With solid all-rounded skills, paired with extensive researching ability, he became one of the key members in building the working system of the company’s 3D animation production. In his 4 years of service, he rapidly rose through the ranks into becoming one of the main creative contributors of the team. From being a Junior 3D Artist, to the Head of Compositing, onto an Art Director. Now, he has been appointed as the Director of the 5th season.

Mohamed Azfaren bin Mohamed Aznam (Music Composer)
Mohamed Azfaren is a senior music composer at Les’ Copaque Production. Upon graduating from Limkokwing University, Malaysia and Royal Melbourne Institute of Technology, Australia, he joined Les’ Copaque as a multimedia designer. He scores the music for the Upin & Ipin TV series and other productions by Les’ Copaque. Apart from making music, he also contributes ideas and energy to the script team, voice recording, marketing and sales events and is a key member of the in-house rock band.

WIEF INITIATIVES

6TH WIEF
The WIEF Businesswomen Network (WBN), an initiative established in 2006 by the WIEF Foundation, is aimed at providing a networking berth for women entrepreneurs across the world, especially in Muslim countries and societies. The idea stems from the premise that women constitute a very important segment of society and thus must be given due recognition of their economic contribution to the Muslim world. WBN also develops programmes to stimulate business activities amongst women entrepreneurs and to empower women in business.
The first project under WBN was the holding of the inaugural WIEF Women Entrepreneurs Workshop jointly organised by the WBN and the WIEF- UiTM International Centre. The course was held on 17–29 January 2010 and was attended by 28 women from 13 countries. It was designed to equip women entrepreneurs with necessary skills to help them compete in the global arena.

This residential workshop provided an excellent opportunity for its participants to network as well as gain extensive knowledge and exposure through lectures, addresses by guest speakers, group roundtable discussion, industrial visits to various local businesses, case studies and group projects.

The 2nd WIEF Women Entrepreneurs Workshop held in January 2011 was organized by the WIEF Businesswomen Network (WBN) in collaboration with the NAM Institute for the Empowerment of Women Malaysia (NIEW), the SME Corporation and the Department of Women Development, Malaysia. This unique cooperation was mooted in order to promote knowledge sharing between the four organizations by utilizing their individual but niche competencies towards producing a high quality workshop.

The 9-day interactive entrepreneurial workshop, attended by 31 participants from 14 countries, was designed to address the specific needs and challenges faced by women entrepreneurs as well as identify opportunities available for them.

The participating countries were Cambodia, Myanmar, Iran, Kyrgyzstan, Sudan, Philippines, Jordan, Uganda, Indonesia, Canada, Comoros, Morocco, Kuwait and Malaysia.

Due to the success of the Workshop, the WBN is exploring the possibility of holding similar programmes with suitable partners abroad in order to allow more women entrepreneurs to benefit from this programme.

WIEF Young Leaders Network (WYN)

Capitalizing on the efforts and creativity of young entrepreneurs and professionals.

Overview

The WIEF Young Leaders Network (WYN) was established in 2006 to bring together young leaders and emerging entrepreneurs from across the globe to share and exchange world-changing ideas and create an effective platform for cross-border networking.

The WYN initiated the ‘Groom a Leader’ Scholarship and Internship Programmes during the 3rd WIEF in Kuala Lumpur in 2007. The programmes are aimed at providing scholarship and internship opportunities for young leaders from the Muslim World.
WYN Internship Programme

The WYN Internship programme was established to inculcate the culture of cross-border internship exchange in the Muslim World. The WYN Internship Programme was established for the purpose of identifying and nurturing young leaders in the Muslim world through internship placements in reputable corporations worldwide. The Programme offers students an opportunity to experience working life in a different country, embrace the different cultures in the Muslim world, and get to know different people while at the same time benefiting from professional and leadership skills and world-class best practices at work.

The Programme operates under one important premise: around 65% of the total Muslim population consists of young people below the age of 30. This means that in the next few decades, this huge number of people will be assuming positions of leadership. The competency of these young people will determine the future of the Muslim world. Hence, their skills, expertise, connectivity with each other are crucial elements that the Muslim world needs to hone to survive the challenging 21st Century.

So far, the Programme has attracted the participation of several big corporations; some of them are: CIMB Group, Sime Darby, Ethos & Company, AsiaEP, PricewaterhouseCoopers Malaysia, Al-Ghurair Group of Dubai, Unicorn International Islamic Bank Malaysia and Rio Tinto Alcan of Australia.

WIEF EDUCATION TRUST (WET)
The idea of WET came from the premise that education is the most important pillar in every society.

OVERVIEW
The WIEF Education Trust (WET) was established in 2006, on the premise that education is the most important pillar in every society and that the fate and future of a community lies in the quality and availability of education to its people. The WET is aimed at garnering support and resources from the Muslim world to provide education opportunities to the people at large.

The WET initiated the establishment of the WIEF-Uitm International Centre to pursue suitable training and academic programmes. In addition, the WIEF-Uitm International Centre, in collaboration with the Islamic Development Bank, is undertaking selective vocational training programmes for some parts of the Muslim world.

PROJECTS
The WET’s first project, the Global Discourse Series had its inaugural session in November 2009 at Uitm International Centre, Universiti Teknologi MARA. It was attended by approximately 120 participants comprising of faculty members as well as local and foreign students. This inaugural session bore the theme ‘Global Economic and Business Scenario: Muslim Countries as the New Emerging Economies’.

There have been talks of a new shift in the global economy’s centre of gravity, moving eastwards from the western hemisphere, where it used to be for many decades. With a significant rise in Islamic Finance beyond its traditional shores, a rapidly increasing Islamic Finance industry worth more than USD 1 trillion, a burgeoning youth population comprising 65% of the total population, Muslim nations and communities are bound to rise as the new emerging economies of the world.

The 2nd WIEF-Uitm Global Discourse entitled, “Churning Out Innovation and Entrepreneurship in Malaysia” was held in October 2010 at the Intekma Resort and Convention Centre, Shah Alam. The Keynote Address was by Prof. William F. Miller, Professor of Public and Private Management, Graduate School of Business, Stanford University, and the President & CEO Emeritus of SRI International.

His speech was focused on the need to develop institutional mechanism to create entrepreneurial culture in academic institutions to foster growth of innovation and entrepreneurship amongst faculty and students. These young and enterprising technocrats would in turn become ‘job generators’ and not ‘job seekers’ – an important element towards Malaysia’s economic growth.

The 3rd WIEF-Uitm Global Discourse, “Social Entrepreneurs: Agents of Change” was held in March 2011 at the Sime Darby Convention Centre, Kuala Lumpur. The Discourse, addressed by four local and international award winners, was attended by more than 200 people comprising academics, entrepreneurs, NGOs, corporate leaders, government officials and students.

Panel Speakers shared their business model as well as their varied experiences and perspectives. They also discussed the many challenges faced by social entrepreneurs from the population explosion, technological advancements, complexities of living, funding issues and accountability.
